ASX ANNOUNCEMENT

Mission NewEnergy Establishes International Advisory Board

Mission NewEnergy Limited (ASX:MBT), a global leader in providing energy from renewable origins, has established an Advisory Board and a presence in the United States with an office in San Antonio.

James Garton, President of Mission NewEnergy USA, has announced the appointment of one of America's most respected military leaders as Chairman of its Advisory Board. Major General Wilbert D. Pearson (USAF-Ret) recently retired as Vice President at Lockheed Martin where he guided the development of the F-35 Joint Strike Fighter, the nation's biggest government contract ever awarded.

"I believe that Mission NewEnergy's approach is particularly efficient and effective. Its product will not impact our food supply and its source provides the noblest of social reforms by employing those living in poverty," Pearson stated. "Finally, in these challenging economic times, the far lower cost per barrel produced without government subsidy is remarkable and will benefit all Americans."

"The Jatropha solution to the global energy crisis is receiving world-wide support as the seeds are inedible and therefore do not affect food supplies or prices. Our Advisory Board, led by General Pearson, will bring together several high profile business leaders, scholars, consumer advocates, former public officials and celebrities who share a passionate commitment to a sustainable future fuelled by responsible products," Garton concluded.

James Garton (centre), President of Mission New Energy USA, and Marty Keller (right) of the California Governor's Office of Economic Development, are shown with Major General Doug Pearson (USAF-Ret) at a recent get together in San Francisco as the General is named Chairman of the company's Advisory Council and its spokesman for the United States.
